(UPC 727994930082 and readily available at public library)

Assignment: Write a paper addressing the following (to be turned in the first week of school):

In "Guns, Germs, and Steel," what geographical and historical reasons does Jared Diamond give to explain why European societies developed at a faster rate than other world societies?

Anatomy and Physiology (Fiser):

Suggested reading:
Fantastic Voyage by Isaac Asimov

9th GRADE

English Honors I (Dunn):

The Old Man and the Sea by Ernest Hemingway

Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde by Robert Louis Stevenson

Earth Space Science Honors (Douthett):

A Briefer (not Brief) History of Time by Stephen Hawking and Leonard Mlodinow

AP Human Geography (Percy):

AP Human Geography students are expected to enter class with a basic understanding of some of the global issues that will be discussed during the course. As preparation, students are asked to complete a series of current events on each of the following topics: population growth/decline, migration/immigration, religious conflict, ethnic conflict, language, political boundary disputes, urban sprawl, genetically modified foods, outsourcing, and environmental stress. Further information outlining these tasks will be available on Mr. Percy's website starting in June.

All summer reading selections are available at local bookstores, including Barnes and Noble, Chamblin's, and Books-a-Million. Some may be obtained at the public library.
